FIVE GUARDS SLAIN; NINE HELD AS HOSTAGES BY 175 RIOTING FELONS

Troops Attempt To Quell Mutiny With Dynamite

CANON CITY, COLO, Oct. 3 (UP)— Rioting which broke out in the state prison here had claimed the lives of five guards shortly before midnight.

There were 175 convicts in cell house No. 3, where they were holding nine guards as hostages. The men were under the leadership of Jimmie Pardue, seriously injured, who was at first reported killed.

Two of the 11 guards originally held as hostages, had been stood against the wall and their bodies sent to the warden to prove that the rioting men meant to carry out their threats to kill a guard an hour until they had been given their freedom.

The prisoners, desperate after having slain four other guards during the riots today, told the warden if he did not provide cars, supplies and safe conduct out of Canon City, those held as hostages would be killed.

Another Sacrificed

Next in order Abe Wiggins, guard and former Pueblo policeman, was sacrificed as the mutineers carried on their bloody campaign of terrorism.

There were reports that other guards had been slain, but at 10:30 their bodies had not been recovered and there was nothing to indicate more hostages had been killed.

Guard Robert Goodwin, one of the first to fall during the firing was reported to have died later at a hospital; but prison officials found out tonight that he was still alive although in a critical condition. He was shot through the lungs.

Pardue Leader

Pardue, an especially desperate inmate of the state prison, which houses about 1200 men, produced a gun from his pocket and killed Guard E. C. Erwin outright at the start of the mutiny.

After killing Erwin the desperado gathered five others about him giving Erwin's gun to one of them. They fired. Guard Brown on a wall overlooking the dining room, opened fire on the prisoners and a minute later fell dead when the convicts returned fire.

Next to fall in the battle was Walter Rinker. Like Brown he sacrificed his life by trying to quell the mutiny single handed. Then Guard Goodwin was shot in the guard tower. Goodwin was the fourth to die. He had been shot through the lungs.

The mutineers included Danny Daniels, A. H. Davis, another convict named Davis, a convict named McGentry, Earl Coombs and "Slippery" Dell Hamlon.

Having burned both other cell houses, the convicts barricaded themselves in cell house No. 3, taking 11 guards with them. They knew the warden would not fire on them and kill his own men.

Four buildings, the dining hall, chapel and cell houses 1 and 2 have been destroyed by fire, set by the mutineers.

TROOPS TRYING TO DYNAMITE BUILDING

STATE PRISON, CANYON CITY, Colo., Oct. 2.UP— At 11:25 o'clock tonight national guardsmen laid down a furious barrage of machine gun fire on cell house No. 3, in the state prison, to cover the movement of volunteers who took the opportunity to place dynamite at the four corners of the building.

It was a desperate move to end the mutiny, which, at this hour, had claimed the lives of five guards, two of them ruthlessly murdered and their bodies sent to the warden as proof that the desperados plan to make good their threats to kill their captives if they are not given their freedom under their own terms.

Father Patrick O'Neill of Holy Cross abbay, here, carried the first charge of dynamite and placed it against a corner of the cell house. It did not explode.

Militia men prepared to lay down a second barrage within a few minutes to cover another attempt to blast the building.

JEANNE EAGLES DROPS DEAD

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—UP— Jeanne Eagles, one of America's outstanding stars of stage and screen walked into the Park avenue hospital shortly after eight o'clock tonight, walked up one flight of stairs and then fell dead.

She was with Dr. Pietre Pellegrini, a hospital physician, when she suddenly collapsed. She died within a few minutes.

Miss Eagles had gone to the hospital in company with a nurse to receive a minor treatment. She entered the hospital at 8:10 and was dead 10 minutes later.

Her personal physician, Dr. Edward Cowles was summoned as soon as she collapsed but she was dead when he reached the hospital.

New Clues Found In Rodeo Holdup

Police yesterday started an investigation of two clues in the robbery of the Rodeo bank which resulted in the fatal wounding of Arthur McDonald of Pinole.

Santa Rosa authorities reported that three men, one believed to have been wearing a bandage on his arm, were seen camped near the railroad station. Sheriff's deputies investigated and found the camp deserted.

A money sack, believed to have been taken from the Rodeo bank, was found in the Berkeley hills by a 17 year-old Berkeley boy. The bags were from the Central National bank of Oakland, which had shipped the payroll money to the Rodeo bank the day of the robbery.

House Not Hit In Auto Accident

Peter Boljack, 862 Tenth street, whose car turned turtle when he failed to negotiate the corner at Twenty-third street and McBryde avenue Wednesday night only turned over once during the accident he insisted yesterday, instead of twice as had been previously reported.

Boljack did not crash into the F. D. Doolittle home, 991 Twenty third street during the accident as had been stated. Boljack's car was the only thing to be damaged in the accident.

JUROR HITS REV SHULER ON NOSE

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 3—UP— Rev. R. P. "Fighting Bob" Shuler the radio crusading minister, got punched on the nose again today. This time Ira Gay did the punching in the courtroom where Rev. Shuler and Rev. Briegleb are being tried for contempt of court.

Gay was the juror who, Shuler said during the recent manslaughter trial of Mrs. Lois Pantages, would "hang" the jury because of his views regarding women and liquor.

Today's session in the hearing of the two pastors on charges growing out of their intimations during the trial of the wealthy woman, had ended, when the fight occured.

Witnesses said that as Gay moved toward the door Rev. Shuler made a pass at him. So Gay removed the minister's glasses and landed a hard right to the latter's nose.

Rev. Shuler returned the punch missed Gay and hit Deputy District Attorney James P. Costello in the eye.

"You're under arrest," Rev. Briegler came to Shuler's aid.

"Who says so and do you think you are big enough to do it?" Gay responded.

The matter was explained to Judge Carlos S. Hardy, who sat in the trial which resulted in Mrs. Pantages' conviction, despite the two minister's predictions. Gay was held by the court bailiff while the ministers sought a battery warrant.

2 KILLED IN BOMB BLAST

MARION, Oct. 3 (U.P.)—Two men were killed and a third wounded tonight when a bomb exploded, wrecking the Marion labor temple.

Charles Hulmes, 58, and William Deam, 62, were killed. Red Lincolns, 45, was injured.

Twenty-three men at a meeting in the temple narrowly escaped injury in the blast.

Police said the origin of the blast was a mystery for as far as they knew there was no labor trouble here.

Mabel Normand Seriously Ill

MONROVIA, Oct. 3.—UP—Mabel Normand, who once was the gay "Mickey" of movie comedies was seriously ill with tuberculosis in the Pottinger sanitarium here tonight.

"Miss Normand's condition is serious, but not alarming,' attendants said.

MOTHER OF GIRL DENIES PANTAGES DAMAGE SUIT

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 3 (U.P.)— The mother of 17 year-old Eunice Pringle never has contemplated a $500,000 civil suit against Alexander Pantages, and wants only justice in his present trial on a criminal charge of attacking her daughter, she testified today.

The mother, Mrs. Lou Irene Pringle, a quiet, partially deaf little school teacher, was the first witness called by the prosecution when presentation of evidence was started.

She withstood a defense attempt to show that she hoped to obtain $500,000 damages from Pantages after the present trial and, often close to tears, told how her daughter had gone happily from home on the morning of the asserted attack, believing that she would be able to place her dancing act on the Pantages circuit.

Suit Charged

Later, attorneys for Pantages attempted to show that Mrs. Pringle had consulted with attorney Theodore Gottsdanker after the asserted attack with the intention of suing Pantages for $500,000.

"I never have intended to sue Mr. Pantages," Mrs. Pringle said. "I went to the attorney's office to meet Nicholas Dunaev, and Mr. Gottsdanked told me I could collect damages, but I never even considered it. I want only justice for my daughter in this present trial. I do not intend to start a civil suit after this trial is over."

The young dancer was not in the courtroom, being excluded with other witnesses until called.

Identifies Clothing

"Yes, those are the clothes I put out for Eunice to wear that day," Mrs. Pringle said, when she was shown some garments.

That night they were torn and some of the fasteners were gone. I saw Eunice take her shower that morning, and that night there were bruises on her body. On her breast was an ugly mark that looked like a bite."

When the mother had concluded her testimony, court was adjourned. The girl will be on the stand Friday to make her accusations against the millionaire, Pantages. She will repeat in detail how she went to see him to book her act, and how, after she rebuked his advances, he seized and attacked her.

Jury Molested

Shortly after opposing attorneys had made an opening address to the judy, court moved to the theater building in which the alleged attack occurred.

H. E. Hollum, 33, manager of the theater which has passed out of Pantages' control since Miss Pringle's visit, remarked that "this is a hell of a way to bring a gang in here while we are doing business," spoke to the jurors and found himself in the county jail for contempt of court. Judge Fricke ordered him confined for 24 hours.

MINISTER SHOWS STRAIN IN 'MA' KENNEDY DAMAGE SUIT

SEATTLE, Wash., Oct. 3.—UP —The visible strain under which the Rev. M. H. Clark has been laboring, caused an early adjournment of his $50,000 breach of promise suit against Mrs. Minnie "Ma" Kennedy. Thursday.

Smarting from a vigorous cross examination, the Rev. Clark returned to the courtroom after a brief recess and prepared to continue his confession of an assertedly denied love.

When the attorneys engaged in a hot discussion on a point of law, Judge Ronald rapped for order and suspended the proceedings until Friday morning.

Before the recess, John S. Robinson, attorney for Mrs. Kennedy, attempted to show the jury of eight women and four men that the minister had had other "affairs" with women.

The name of a Mrs. Seena Lomar, whom Robinson said he would summon as a witness was mentioned in connection with an alleged $200 loan the minister

S. O. DENIES AGREEMENT WITH P. G. E.

An emphatic statement was issued yesterday by officials of the Standard Oil company, denying that its new property, the Pacific Public Service company, would be disposed of in order to make peace with the Pacific Gas and Electric company.

Standard officials further denied any existing or proposed contract with the company, their statement reading in part: "There is no conflict between the Stand- Electric company. The territory served by Gas and Electric company, controlled by Standard and by the Pacific Gas and Electric company, respectively, has been outlined by the California State Railroad commission."

Agreement Rumored

According to the rumor circulated yesterday, the P. G. & E. had agreed to transport gas to the oil company's refinery in Richmond, for fuel, in return for an agreement whereby Standard would remove from the public utility field.

This would mean that Western Natural Gas, control of which was held by Standard, would abandon its efforts to construct a natural gas pipe line from the Kettleman Hills to Contra Costa county.

Eventual Link

The oil company entered into the public utility field when P. G. & E. refused to lower its terms to Standard for the transportation and supply of gas. This would apparently effect an eventual link between the Western company's proposed business in Contra Costa county.

According to A. F. Hockenbeamer, president of the P. G. & E., Standard is producing its own gas at Kettleman Hills, and Pacific Gas is buying some of it through its own lines. Although Hockenbeamer declared he knew nothing of the alleged truce, he admitted that his company had offered a transportation contract to Standard Oil, but that it had apparently been turned down.

Advisory Board Of DeMolay Selects Committee Heads

Three committee chairmen were appointed by the advisory board of the Richmond chapter of De Molay meeting at the office of Dr. T. A. Guthries, 906 Macdonald avenue last night.

R. R. Haffman, a junior high school teacher, was named chairman of the degree team committee.

Jack Patterson was elected to take charge of all athletic events planned by the chapter.

Laverne Cuthbertson, a high school instructor, was elected to the post of ritualistic committee chairman.

Eugene Gaumer Called By Death

Eugene T. Gaumer, 34, an automobile salesman employed by David Rose, local Ford dealer, died last night in an Oakland hospital. Gaumer, a native of Nebraska has resided in Richmond during the past four years.

Surviving him are a wife, Mrs. Gladys Gaumer; three sons, Harvey, 10; Howard 8 and William Frederick, 6; his mother, Mrs. Martha Gaumer of Pinole; a sister, Mrs. Ruth Haskel of Nebraska, and two brothers, John of Pinole, and Lloyd of Colorado.

Funeral arrangements will be handled by Wilson and Kratzer.

High Pupils Score Game Admissions

A complaint against the sums set as admission to inter-school athletic contests by the Richmond Union high school Student Body officers was raised in a meeting of the organization yesterday.

The officers answered the complaint by pointing out that the constitution of the association gave full power to the commissioners to set the admission fees for all Student Body affairs. The approval of Principal B. X. Tucker is required.

Tucker announced that the World Series baseball broadcast would be heard by the Richmond high school pupils next week during the noon hour. Two radio sets will be in operation. One will be placed in the auditorium and the other will be heard in the Little theater.

The pupils yesterday listened to the Standard Oil school music lecture broadcast. The concert gave a review of all lessons broadcast since Sept. 5.

$75,000 Fire Perils Martinez Refinery

MARTINE, Oct. 3.—In one of the most spectacular fires that has ever occured in these regions, the light oil filling plant of the Shell Oil company's refinery here was totally destroyed yesterday, from a fire starting shortly after 12:30. A loss of approximately $75,000 was caused by the blaze.

For nearly an hour, flaming gasoline and Kerosene shot high into the air, before the fire was finally smothered by the use of foamite, augmented by the salt water fire protection system.

The entire lower bay regions were blanketed by dense clouds of black smoke, as the fire raged through the filling station, which housed hundreds of gallons of gasoline and distillate.

Due to the fact that the fire broke out during the lunch hour, when practically everyone was outside, no one was injured.

Plant employes risked their lives, in moving two strings of railroad cars, each string containing about 20 cars, loaded with gasoline away from the flames. In spite of this, three empty box cars and one oil car were destroyed by the flames.

Concussion from the exploding drums, and the roar of the fire were felt as far away as Benicia.

The fire was caused, it is believed, by sparks from a torch that was used in soldering cans, igniting gaseous vapors in the building.

Work Started Here On Radio Station

Work was started yesterday to move Radio Station KFWM from its present site in Oakland to its new home in East Shore park. Permission was granted Wednesday by the Federal Radio Commission for removal of the station to the local site.

Surveyors yesterday laid out the ground and prepared to move the hugh towers to this city. Preliminary work was also started to construct shelters for the equipment which will be used in the construction of the broadcasting station.

C. R. Welch, president of the Oakland Educational society, operators of the station was in the city yesterday and started arrangements for the speedy transfer of the station here.

Welch stated that the work of dismantling the station would be rushed as fast as possible. He stated that the station would probably be ready to broadcast from its station here by Nov. 1.

The survey started yesterday is to be completed within a short time and actual construction of a hollow tile building to house the broadcasting equipment will be started immediately.

DAM BROKEN BY MASSED WATERS

AUGUSTA, Georgia, Oct. 3.—UP—The towns of Langley and Graniteville, Ga., were threatened seriously tonight by flood waters, after the breaking of one dam and the dynamiting of another on the Savannah river which has been swollen by a week of heavy rains.

The Graniteville dam was blown up in an effort to save the town after the Caucluse dam gave way under the pressure of the water.

Parts of Langley already were inundated by the advanced tide of a huge wall of water sweeping down Horse creek valley onto the two towns.

The entire valley was without electric light and power since all plants in the district were crippled by the floods.

The water tore down one span of the high trestle of Augusta-Aiken railway, now abandoned and broke out a large section of the paved U. S. highway No. one near here.

Hamburg, S. C., across the river, received its second flood in a week as the Savannah reentered homes through the small narrow village.

OFFICIALS MUM ON 'SHAKEUP'

Principals involved in the rumored "shakeup" and "investigation" of the El Cerrito fire department yesterday refused to make any statement regarding the matter.

Fire Chief Arthur Byrd, whom it is rumored will be called before the El Cerrito city council on Monday night to explain his actions that resulted in the arrest of Milt Rawlins, declared last night that nothing had been said to him about the matter and that he did not have a statement to make.

Councilman J. R. Beck, who is credited with being one of the councilmen back of the move for the "investigation," refused to confirm or deny the rumor, other than to insinuate that "something might happen Monday night."

Mayor E. E. O'Brien remained mute, declaring that he knew nothing of the matter.

The rumors are the result of the arrest of Rawlins on Byrd's complaint. Byrd alleges that the former used obscene language during an argument with him over the suspension of Rawlin's stepson, L. T. Rawlins, former volunteer fireman.

Byrd figured in a shakeup investigation of the department several years ago when he was engineer. He was discharged by Fire Chief W. A. Binds, who later was discharged by the city council and Byrd was appointed fire chief and engineer.

Clark admitted he had frequently visited the woman, but denied their association was of an intimate nature.

The self-styled lover has been on the stand since the trial opened and possibly will continue his testimony during the remainder of the week.

Earlier in the day, Mrs. Kennedy, apparently unperturbed, sipped tea and smiled vivaciously at her confessed paramour when Robinson read extracts from other letters.

On cross-examination, the minister testified that his reputation had been stripped from him and that he would never go back into the pulpit.

"Well, who made all this public?" Robinson queried.

"Well, she allowed it to become public," Clark replied. "She knew that if she made a Christian settlement, it would not be aired."

Clark hesitated and then continued:

"I mean—if she had asked my forgiveness."

Robinson again queried the elderly minister about his relations with Mrs. Kennedy at a Seattle hotel.

Clark said he and Mrs. Kennedy registered as "H. H. Clark, Tacoma."

"You knew", Robinson asked, "that Clark was not Mrs. Kennedy's name at the time you became engaged to her?"

"Yes."

"And so you got engaged to a woman without knowing who she was?"

Clark replied that he "didn't ask impertinent questions," but had asked her "as delicately as I could several times, but she parried."

DOLORES HELD "EXQUISITE" BY ARTIST

It was Howard Chandler Christy famous artist and connoisseur of beautiful women who called Dolores Costello, Warner Bros.' beautiful star, "The exquisite Dolores."

It was at a dinner in Hollywood at which the artist and his wife were guests. He overheard his wife and woman guest trying to define the beauty of a girl whose name he had not heard. One of the women selected the adjective exquisite.

"The one girl in Hollywood to whom the word exquisite belongs exactly and entirely," said Christy "is Dolores Costello, just as the Prince of Wales once called Mrs. Robinson 'The exquisite Perdita.'"

And "The exquisite Dolores" she has remained. Her blond hair, her large blue eyes, her peach-blown complexion, her slender and graceful figure combine to make in her the ideal of the present style in feminine beauty.

A few years ago, while she was hunting a job at the Paramount Studio on Long Island, James Montgomery Flagg saw her and persuaded her to pose for his illustrations for "The Sky-rocket," a story of a screen [illegible] by Adela Rogers St. Johns. Artist Flagg said she fitted the heroine of Mrs. St. Johns' story more perfectly than anyone he had ever seen. The author, in describing her heroine, had written "Very slender but with no bones showing anywhere."

Her latest Warner Bros. picture "Madonna of Avenue A," comes to the Fox-California theater today. It is the story of a girl expelled from boarding school who seeks out her mother in New York to find her a hostess in a notorious East Side night club and gambling den. Believing she has the mother taint in her own blood, the girl tries to tread the primrose path, but finds she cant. The mother frames the young bootlegger who has been paying her attentions, and then learns that he has quit the racket and married the girl. How she saves him from being sent "up the river" gives the picture its powerful and dramatic kick. Michael Curtiz directed. The support includes Grant Withers, Louise Dresser, Douglas Gerrard, Otto Hoffman, Lee Moran and others. Michael Curtiz directed.

Also on this program is an all talking comedy feature "Taxi 13" with Chester Conklin and a Fox Talking News.

SYNOPSIS

Joe Lane, ex-pugilist, song plugger, and hit of QRSA Radio Station, and his wife, Katherine, have one child, Little Pal, whom they both adore. Joe, believing Arthur Phillips, manager of the station, to be his best friend, accepts a big contract from him, not knowing that Phillips is in love with Katherine. But Katherine, becoming aware because of Joe's careless and irresponsible habits, quarrels with him, and during the reconciliation admits to Joe that Phillips wants her to be "nice to him." The song plugger is furious, but promises Katherine he will not fight. He breaks his promise, however, knocking Phillips out. Meanwhile, at home . . .

Those doubts, like great, black crows, kept flocking into the cozy room. Questions to which there were no answers. Katherine tried to forget them. And, as much to divert her own thoughts as to keep the boy from asking unanswerable questions, she began a little game the two often played.

"Who's got your nose?" she asked quickly, reaching out her hand and pretending to snatch away the rosy little button on the baby's face. She held her thumb between her first and second fingers.

"Oh-h-h-h! My little nose is gone away," crooned the child, trying hard to pretend consternation and holding his hands over his face. "You give it right back to me, Muvver!" he gurgled in high spirits, stretching forth a chubby fist.

Her fears came rushing back

A buzzing sound in the next room called Katherine to sudden attention.

"Be a good boy, now, while mother answers the 'phone," Katherine admonished, giving the child a quick pat and hurrying from the room.

But just across the threshold she stopped. Again those forebodings returned. Had anything happened? Had Joe been hurt? Had he fought with Phillips? But how silly, she reprimanded herself sharply. Nothing had happened. It was probably Joe, just calling her to be certain she and Little Pal were listening in before he began his hour on the air.

And, to some extent, Katherine was right. For Joe was in a telephone booth at QRSA putting through a call for his wife. His mind seemed suddenly to have cleared. He could think rationally, now. A little while before, he couldn't. Everything that had happened was in rather a vague haze. He remembered striking Phillips, and the man had gone down. Then there was nothing very clear to him until he had somehow seen the lights of the radio station looming before him. They were querly bright—that was all that had seemed to impress him.

Funny that wrench hadn't broken his shoulder. Joe moved his arm a bit and decided that the bruise must be rather bad. But his knuckles—they did hurt. They were all bandaged, now. Oh, yes, he had come in and had been surprised to see them scuffed and bleeding. What a wallop that had been! He grinned again. He had been trying to get the bandage—his own handkerchief—about the hand and had called to the electrician to help him.

The second buzz of the telephone ringing sounded loud. Why was it taking Kitty so long to answer the 'phone. But it wasn't long really, he reminded himself. He had so much on his mind—so many things to think about, that was all.

"Hello!" Kitty's voice was there.

"Hello, darling," came the answer, and the girl's heart leapt. It was Joe, and he was all right. She had been foolish about not wanting to answer. "Just want to tell you not to worry any more."

"Oh, Joe, I have been worried. Did anything happen?"

"Nothing serious. But that party won't bother you any more. And after tonight I'm taking a new job." The song plugger's voice was confident and reassuring. "Everything's gonna be just swell after this. I just sneaked away for a minute to tell you how much I love you, baby. An' is my Little Pal gonna listen in? Oke! There's the announcer givin' me the touch off right now. I can see him from the booth, here. My first song's gonna tell you just how I feel about you. There . . ." A smacking noise was transmitted over the wires. "There's a kiss for you an' one for Little Pal. D'ja hear 'em, sweets? Oke! Bye-Bye!"

Katherine turned away from the 'phone, almost assured that everything was indeed all right. Back in the baby's room there was Little Pal himself, twisting the knobs of the receiving set. His tiny hands knew exactly where to turn. The voice of the announcer broke into the stillness.

"... Joe Lane, singing an original song he wrote especially for all you folks out there tonight. You all like Joe, and you're going to like this song, 'Ke-razy For You.' In fact, I think it's going to be one of the biggest hits of the year."

"Didn't you mean Century," came Joe's voice banteringly. And then, like a whisper: "Are you listening, Kitty, darling? Here it is! All right, boys, let's go. Make it hot! Pass the mustard!"

The unseen orchestra pattered a few bars softly, like thin fingers of summer rain at the window pane. Then Joe's voice...that voice with the crooning lilt that so many thousands loved.

"Bye-Bye Baby, here comes your train...
Kiss and cuddle me tight...Oh-h-h!
Say you love me and then...say you love me again..."

Little Pal beamed up at his mother, his violet eyes round and bright, like the button-eyes in a teddy-bear's head. "There is my Daddy, Muvver!" he announced proudly.

Like the baby, Katherine leaned toward the loud speaker as if to catch a glimpse of the singer in it. All the troubles of the day seemed so foolish, now. Joe would always be there when she called. He was crazy about her, just as he was singing the song to her. And she wouldn't worry any more.

Little Pal was clapping his hands, beating time to the jagged, jazz rhythm. He tried to follow the words to repeat them.

"Muvver, dear, wasn't that swell?" he gurgled as the chorus ended. "Don't you just love Daddy so?"

"Yes, sweetest, it was swell!" Katherine leaned over and gave the child a hug. "Daddy is a wonderful man and we're lucky to have such a Daddy, aren't we."

And as she spoke, she realized that she meant what she said with all her heart. What would anything be without Joe? His personality colored everything around him. And if she did expect too much of him, it was, perhaps, because she loved him so much. It was incredible that she should have thought just this evening of separating from him. With all his faults he was the only man she had ever loved. Careless and flippant, yes, but true blue despite that. Why, his voice—the way he sang—showed that. But there it was again. This time, tender with a catch and a little sob in it.

"Now that I'm used to you...I'd be so blue
If we should ever part.
I've grown so used to you . . . the things you do
Are part of me, Sweetheart. . . ."

The crooning, softness trailed out into thin air. Katherine sat up with a jerk as the announcer's voice broke into her reverie.

"You have just heard Joe Lane singing his latest number, 'Used to You'," the man was saying. "You will now hear Martin's Kentuckians in a red hot piece you all know. After this number Joe is going to sing for us again. So don't go 'way, folks, don't go 'way."

As the jazz players began to beat out a crisp dance tune Katherine reached toward the receiving set.

"Let's turn it off, Junior," she said. "It sounds so funny after Daddy's wonderful singing."

"But Muvver," Little Pal objected, frowning anxiously, "we might miss Daddy if you do that. Let's just make b'lieve we don't hear that old band."

Smiling, Katherine agreed and leaned over to kiss the baby. He snatched at her face and then held up his pink fist exultingly.

"Now I got Muvver's nose," he chortled.

Before she could recover that important member of her face the doorbell rang. Instantly all her fears came rushing back to her. Who could it be? It couldn't be Joe, for she had just heard the announcer say he was to sing again in a few minutes.

AN EPIC OF INDIFFERENCE

The ancient story of Nero fiddling while Rome burned has its parallel in modern society where property-owners continue on in their blithe way, indifferent to the menace of fire--a menace that is very real and constant, to life and property.

With the modern machinery and scientific advantages to fight fire, property owners need not abandon themselves to the spirit of indifference that infested Nero. Something can be DONE to thwart fire losses. It is in the hands of YOU and your neighbor.

During FIRE PREVENTION WEEK of October 6th do your bit to clear away all rubbish from your property that is a cradle of conflagrations. Statistics show that most fires are preventable, and that most of them are due to carelessness around individual homes.

Bronco Frosh Play Junior Squad Saturday

Santa Clara frosh, following their victory over California babes last week will tackle a tough club in San Mateo Junior College at Burlingame field, 2:30 p. m. Saturday.

A colorful player both on offense and defense Bill Hardeman who distinguishde himself in the California game, will be playing in his home town. He was captain of Burlingame high before entering Santa Clara.

Coach George Barsi has been keeping the squad hard at work. Santa Clara, however, will go into the game under a severe handicap as Bill Denser and 'Molly' Molinar, star halfback and tackle, will be out. Denser broke his wrist in scrimmage on the eve of the California game, while Molinari, in the California game received a severe cut on the side of his head.

BERKELEY HIGH B-11 BEATS LOCALS

Two points was the margin by which the Berkeley high school B team defeated the local lightweight gridders yesterday on the Berkeley field. Berkeley gained the winning points by blocking a Richmond pass, which rolled behind the Richmond goal line. The local team was forced to make a safety. The greater part of the game was played in Richmond territory. The Berkeleyans seemed to know how to open holes in the Richmond line, and continually brought the ball to the Richmond 10 yard line. The local boys showed plenty of fight, but had few tricks to play.

Richmond kicked off in the first quarter to the 40 yard line. The Berkeleyans steadily gained yardage until the ball rested on Richmond's three yard line. The first period ended there.

Safety Forced

At the beginning of the second quarter, Richmond was forced to make a safety. Richmond kicked off to Berkeley's 40 yard line. Berkeley again drove through to Richmond's 10 yard line. Richmond stemmed the advance, and brought the ball back to mid field, where the quarter ended.

The Berkeleyans opened the second half by once more bringing the ball to Richmond's 10 yard line. Richmond then advanced to its own 30 yard line, where the third quarter ended.

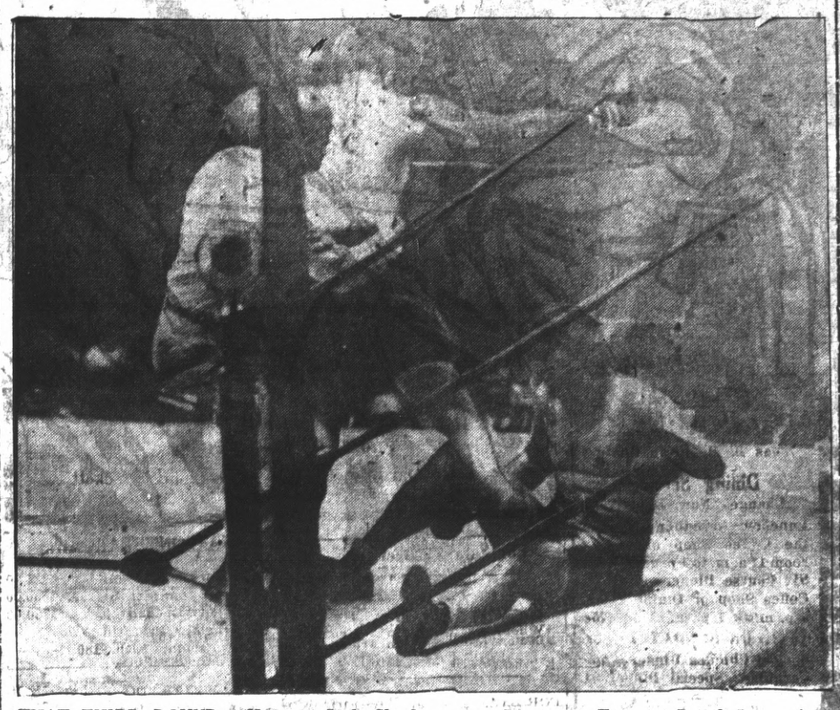
Berkeley advanced to Richmond's 10 yard line in the fourth quarter, but Richmond kicked out of danger. The game occupied the mid field for a short time. Berkeley then punted to the local's five yard line. Richmond punted to mid field, and recovered the ball. Richmond initiated an aerial attack, but was unable to get past Berkeley's 35 yard line before the game ended.

Starting Lineups

The starting lineup for Richmond was: Boschetti, Juillerat, ends; Ball, Lawrence Dunleavy tackles; Baxter, George Betts guards; Clarence Hall, center; Bob Miller, quarterback; Abbay, Hosmer, halfbacks; and Sotddard fullback. The Richmond substitutes were McClean, Joe Betts, ends; Massick, Scarcella, George Miller halfbacks.

The starting lineup for Berkeley high was: Kellogg, Bennet ends; Kalselunchi, Marcelain, tackles; Urich, Griffith, guards; Morrison center; Vallejo, quarter back; Brent, Dunbar, halfbacks; Polk, fullback.

Sharkey Downs Loughran



THAT THIRD ROUND. Here is Jack Sharkey stepping over Tommy Loughran after flooring him for the last time in their recent battle. Sharkey was given a technical knockout a few moments later. Jack now claims the heavyweight championship on the strength of his victory.

Legion Gridders High Varsity To Tangle Tonight

The Richmond American Legion football team will meet the Richmond high school varsity football team this afternoon at the high school field.

The Legion team has only played one game this year, losing to the Hottentots of San Francisco.

The game will start at five o'clock.

Flier Sets New Endurance Record

LONG BEACH, Oct. 3 (U.P.)—A new world's solo endurance record for a nonfueling flight was set by Vern Speich when he landed here tonight after 38 hours, 48 seconds in the air.

The previous record of 36 hours, 16 minutes and 36 seconds was held by Lieut. Herbert Fahy of Los Angeles. Speich stayed up slightly more than the one hour additional required. He took off Wednesday morning.

GO EARLY GRID FANS OF BAY WARNED

Go early and avoid the rush.

That's the advice of J. P. Potter, vice president in charge of operation for the Key System to football fans who are planning to attend the game on Saturday between St. Mary's and the University of California. A record crowd will jam all transportation facilities, Potter warns, unless many start early for the U. C. Memorial stadium.

"Every effort to handle comfortably and conveniently the thousands of football enthusiasts Berkeley bound on football days is being made," Potter says. "The Key System is operating special ferry boat service and football express trains from San Francisco. The special service arranged by the Key will take passengers practically to the portals of the stadium."

SHIEKS, REDS AGAIN TIED IN RACE

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 3.—UP—The San Francisco Missions became favorites to win the Pacific Coast league pennant today when they defeated Seattle, 13 to 1, and tied Hollywood for leadership of the circuit. It was the third straight victory for the Missions while Hollywood was losing the second game of three it has played against Portland, 9 to 5.

Two more victories by either [illegible] or Hollywood in the four games left to play before the season ends Sunday would definitely eliminate Los Angeles since Oakland beat the Angels, 2 to 1, today.

Bates, Portland center fielder, scored the winning run on a wild pitch by Hollerson, Hollywood pitcher in the sixth inning. The Beavers made four runs after that but they were not needed.

Two outfielders of the Missions, Hufft and Kelly, each made four hits in five times at bat and were largely responsible for the Missions closing a gap of two full games that separated them from Hollywood Tuesday.

Oakland's two runs in the second inning were sufficient to beat the Angels. Sacramento broke a scoreless tie with one counter in the eighth to beat the San Francisco Seals, 1 to 0.

Adjusting the timing chain on your car is a job that shou'd be left to a skilled mechanic. It should not be too tight, and if adjusted properly, should operate indefinitely.

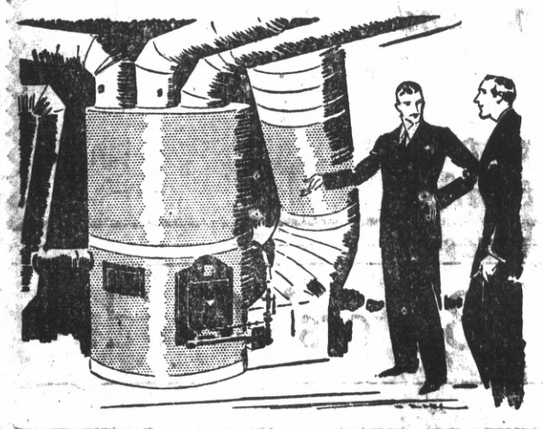
automatic gas fired heating



"So that's why the air is so warm and fresh!"

When you heat with gas fuel your home is warm. The air is fresh.

A good automatic gas-fired heating system costs less than any other automatic system. It lasts for long years with little servicing. Still, it works like any good system, except that it burns gas fuel which requires no storage space. This is a cleaner fuel that is more responsive to quick, automatic control. It is odorless because the firebox is properly vented. You touch an electrical control—healthful circulating warmth starts flowing into your home.

There are many types of good gas-fired heating equipment. How can you know which to choose?

The experience of P G and E engineers and their knowledge of all types of gas-fired heating systems qualifies them to judge which is the most adaptable for each home. They will help you select a good system. And we are interested in having you use a perfectly working system, for that means a satisfied P G and E customer.

SPECIAL by the P G and E —automatic heating system installed for 10% down, terms

So let our engineers give you complete details about the economy of gas fuel for care-free heating. Telephone or call at our office. You'll have at your command, without cost or obligation, the advice of a man who knows gas-fired heating equipment.

Strength Regained

FONG WAN
Eminently Successful Herbalist

Woodland, Cal., Mar. 28, 1928.

Several months ago I strained my back. It was very painful and got worse every day. My general health was affected and I became so weak that I could scarcely walk.

I was recommended to take the Fong Wan herbs. After the first three weeks of the treatment I had gained seven pounds in weight. My health is now entirely restored, my back is well and I am strong again.

I take pleasure in endorsing the wonderful herbs of Fong Wan.

COOPER ISSUES PREVENTION STATEMENT

An announcement was made yesterday by Fire Chief W. P. Cooper to the effect that Fire Prevention Week will be observed here from Oct. 6 to 12.

"The public," said Chief Cooper, "is beginning to understand what a tremendous toll is exacted because of carelessness, with fire and in the selection of materials for the construction of buildings.

"Sound construction, with fire-resistive building materials, and the exercise of constant care, will vastly reduce the dangers in every community.

10,000 Lives Lost

"It is not enough for a mere handful of people in every community to do its share in stopping the tremendous fire losses, which annually claim more than 10,000 lives and almost a half billion dollars in property; everyone must help. There should be a general clean-up of rubbish in every house and business place by the owner or occupant of the premises.

"Statistics show that approximately 80 per cent of the fire loss is due to carelessness, and therefore preventable. This waste of the nation's resources is wide-spread. Everyone unwittingly shares in these losses, through the various channels of trade, because of increases which must be levied by business in the purchasing price.

Aid to Prosperity

"Greater national prosperity and progress can therefore be attained only by safeguarding the interests of every home and business place against loss by fire.

"So important is the subject of fire damage that year after year the president of the United States issues a proclamation for the national observance of fire prevention week.

"It would be to their own advantage for the people of Richmond to participate in the observance of fire prevention week, Oct. 6 to 12, and to strive to make their community a model of safety against fire. Let us make this a record year. Every home, every business and social organization, every church and school can help. Life and property must be made safe."
